AMUSEMENT AND VENDING TOKENS

STEPHEN P. ALPERT, TAMS #2134

INTRODUCTION

Amusement and vending tokens have received little attention in the past, and are low on the list of desirable types of tokens, just a notch or so above play money. These very abundant and diverse tokens are a prime constituent of collector's and dealer's junk boxes. It is hoped that this catalogue will create an interest in this long neglected group of tokens. The low cost and general availability of amusement tokens permits one to assemble an interesting collection in a short period of time.

This catalogue covers amusement, vending and related tokens from the United States and Canada. Some foreign pieces may unknowingly be included. Omitted are military and foreign amusement tokens, recent casino slot machine and gambling tokens, and amusement ride tokens (already catalogued in Atwood's catalogue of transportation tokens). Tokens believed to be amusement tokens, but without indication as such on the token, are included as an appendix to the catalogue.

All tokens related to or used in the following are included in the catalogue: pin ball and slot machines, target and other amusement machines, penny arcades, skee ball and related games, vending machines and companies, amusement and novelty companies, player pianos, juke boxes, manufacturers of coin machines, machine test coins, public pay television, bingo, etc.

The tokens were put to various uses. Some were sold to be used to operate amusement machines, music boxes, etc. The amusement machines would pay off in tokens when a player won, and the tokens could be put back into the machine for free plays. Nowadays, free plays are registered mechanically on the machines. This has the disadvantage that you must take your free games right away and on the same machine. Some tokens state that they are good for a surprisingly large number of free games, for example 25, 50, 75, 100 and an amazing 500 free games. I cannot imagine what the game could be, as it would take several days and super-human effort to play 500 consecutive games of anything.

Many old machines were a combination amusement-vending machine or issued tokens that could be redeemed for candy, gum, mints, cigarettes, etc.

In penny arcades, tokens were issued for use in the machines or given to the player by an attendant for winning at skee ball or other games. Tokens could be accumulated and redeemed for valuable merchandise. Denominations in points and coupons are used, with 10 points equal to one coupon, usually. Tokens have now been almost completely replaced by paper tickets for this purpose. These paper points and coupons from amusement arcades are not included in the catalogue; a few recent ones are illustrated.

Unfortunately, I have not been able to uncover much information on the background of amusement tokens or machines. The tokens themselves provide much information. No books are available on the history of amusement machines.

The only previous literature on amusement tokens is an article by Melvin Fuld, entitled "Put another token in — amusement and vending tokens in America," which appeared over several issues of Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine in 1969; it has been reprinted in booklet form. The article covers the legality of amusement tokens, the mechanics of how the machines distinguished the tokens from U.S. coins, a method of classifying and cataloguing amusement tokens (not used here), phrases on amusement tokens, and Hickey Brothers tokens (not included here).

I have divided amusement tokens into six categories (the sixth not included in this catalogue):

- I Names and initials
- II Designs and figures
- III Fairs
- IV Numbers
- V Phrases
- VI Military and foreign

I. Names and initials. — includes all tokens with names or an initial or initials on the token. The names and initials include names of amusement machines, amusement, novelty, and vending companies, amusement arcades, vending machines, products (mints, etc.), manufacturers of machines, names of businesses or proprietors that issued tokens for amusement machines in their establishment, etc.

II. Designs and figures. — tokens without names and initials, that have either a dominating figure on one side (without a phrase), or a design or figure only on both sides.

III. Fairs. — tokens issued at fairs and expositions for use in amusement machines or games (not rides) there.

IV. Numbers. — tokens with numbers only, or names and phrases that begin with a number. The tokens with a number (usually five digits) on one side, and "Good for 5¢ in trade" on the other side, are included under the phrases.

V. Phrases. — tokens without names and initials, with phrases that do not begin with a number.

KEY TO CATALOGUE LISTINGS

The tokens are listed as follows:

1	2	3	4	5
Catalogue number	obverse / reverse	size, metal,
6		7
other information, number	and types of varieties.			8
•••••	•••••	•••••	•••••	value

1. Catalogue number — given in left-hand column.

Category I. Names and initials. The tokens are arranged alphabetically. The catalogue number consists of two letters (only one if there is just one initial on the token) followed by a number. The two letters are the first two letters or initials on the token. The tokens within each letter combination are then numbered alphabetically. For example, token AM3 is the third token in alphabetical order of those that begin with AM. If the name is that of a person, the last name is used to determine the catalogue number; first names or initials are not used. Thus D. N. SCHALL & CO. goes under SC. Punctuation and spacing are ignored. The ampersand (&) is treated as the 27th letter of the alphabet; the question mark (?) as the 28th. Thus B & G AMUSEMENT CO. goes under B& (which follows BZ); however, if the names were B AND G AMUSEMENT CO., it would appear under BA, or if B-G AMUSEMENT CO. under BG.

The name of a company or establishment takes precedence over a proprietor's name, and names take precedence over initials.

If one initial appears on one side of a token, and a different initial on the other side, for example R and T, the side with the initial closest to A is arbitrarily chosen as the obverse. In the example, the token would be listed under RT (see RT1).

Tokens from the same source that have different legends are listed under the same catalogue number, using subdivisions a, b, c, etc., for example BU3a. Numbers in parenthesis are used for further subdivisions, for example R6b (7).

Category II. Designs and figures. Numbered alphabetically.

Category III. Fairs. Numbered alphabetically.

Category IV. Numbers. The catalogue number consists of a number (the number on the token), followed by a capital letter (A, B, C, etc.) for each token with that number.

Category V. Phrases. Numbered in alphabetical order of phrase or phrase combination.

2. Obverse.

The obverse is considered to be the side of the token that has the name, or the side that most clearly indicates that the token is an amusement or vending token. The obverse legend is given in capital letters. The division into lines of the legend is not indicated. The name, or phrase containing the name, is given first, even if other phrases precede it on the token. Commas may be added in the listings, that do not appear on the tokens.

The location of the token, descriptions of objects pictured on the token, and comments are given in small case letters in parenthesis.

3. Reverse.

A slanted line (/) separates the obverse and reverse descriptions. The reverse is also given in capital letters. If the reverse reads the same as the obverse, "(Same)" is given for the reverse. This does not mean the two dies are identical, as there are usually differences. A semicolon (;) follows the reverse description.

4. Size.

The size of the token is given relative to the size of current U.S. coins: 5¢ means nickel size; L5¢ means the diameter is slightly less than (or smaller than) a nickel; G5¢ means the token is slightly greater in diameter (or larger) than a nickel. The following table converts the abbreviations into millimeters (within plus or minus $\frac{1}{2}$ millimeter accuracy). For tokens larger than G25¢, the diameter in mm is given if it differs from the value in the table by more than $\frac{1}{2}$ mm.

L10¢ = 17 millimeters

10¢ = 18

L1¢ = 18½

1¢ = 19

G1¢ = 19½

L5¢ = 20

5¢ = 21

G5¢ = 22

L25¢ = 23

25¢ = 24

G25¢ = 25

L50¢ = 30

50¢ = 31

G50¢ = 32 millimeters

L$1.00 = 37

$1.00 = 38

G$1.00 = 39

5. Metal.

Abbreviations used:

AL = aluminum

B = brass

BC = brass-plated copper

C = copper

CB = copper-plated brass

F = fibre, followed by color

GB = gilt brass

I = iron or steel (magnetic)

L = lead

N = nickel (not pure)

NB = nickel-plated brass

NC = nickel-plated copper

NI = nickel-plated iron or steel

V = vulcanite, followed by color

WM = white metal

Z = zinc

ZB = zinc-plated brass

Nickel and white metal may be considered synonymous. Quite a few amusement tokens are bimetallic. The common case is a brass token with an iron center (which has a small hole), the whole token being nickel-plated. Thus it is not visually bimetallic; the center is usually a bit rusted. The only sure way to tell is to check the piece with a magnet. The central part only will be attracted. Such tokens are abbreviated as NB (Iron center).

6. Other Information.

Following the metal, other pertinent information may be given, primarily the presence of a central hole (noted by the word "hole"). Odd-shaped holes are described. A scrollwork background, as on many transportation tokens, is noted where present.

7. Varieties.

The number of known varieties is given (if more than one), with an elaboration using abbreviations in parenthesis. The number of varieties includes different sizes and metals (already given in the listing), die varieties, borders, counterstamps, etc. The abbreviations following the number of varieties are to let you know what to look for in discerning the varieties. The explanation of the abbreviations follows.

b = border differences; tokens otherwise identical.

c/p = counterpunched — with a letter or geometric-shaped hole — on a normal solid or holed token.

c/s = counterstamped.

d = die varieties (size or style or positioning of letters, different ornaments or numbers, etc.).

dc = die cracks (prominent).

g = grooves — two deep grooves in token, as on many telephone tokens.

h = hole size — differences in size of central hole.

hp = hole plugged (with lead, etc.).

me = misspelling error on token.

n = different incuse numbers on tokens.

r = recut letters.

so = struck over other tokens.

Occasionally an abbreviation is given when only one variety is known, to inform that the token is counterstamped, etc.

8. Evaluations.

At present there is very little demand for amusement tokens. Thus almost all the maverick amusement tokens are given values from 5¢ to 25¢ each. A 5¢ value is given for the extremely common amusement tokens. Common tokens that are a little more desirable are evaluated at 10¢ and 15¢. The less common ones are valued at 20¢ and 25¢. The uncommon desirable or impressive maverick tokens are given higher values. Tokens with city and state or identified mavericks are given value from 25¢ to several dollars, depending on the piece. Thus the evaluations reflect the known abundances and desirability of the pieces.

No evaluations are given for those tokens lacking a complete description.

Over 3100 tokens are covered in the 1500-plus listings in this catalogue. This is far from being complete, and undoubtedly hundreds of unlisted tokens will turn up. No special value should be given to a token solely because it is not listed. I would appreciate being advised of unlisted tokens or varieties, for a possible future supplement or revision of the catalogue.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The following people have been especially helpful in bringing numerous tokens to my attention over the past few years, thus making this catalogue much more complete than it would have been without their help: Herman Aqua, Kendall Ballard,

Charles Danielson, Don Finch, Richard L. Herbert, S. Bertram Tabor, Barry Uman, Elaine Willahan.

I would also like to thank all of the following collectors, who helped in a smaller way make this a better catalogue: Stephen Album, J.W. Baum, Ray Bows, John Calhoun, Irving H. Coles, Virginia Culver, Joe J. Davich, Lewis L. Egnew, Larry Elman, William Fowler, Melvin Fuld, J. Blake Godfrey, George F. Gould, Dick Grinolds, James G. Johnson, W. A. Jolly, John L. Knabenshuh, Arthur G. Krauss, Harold L. Lesser, Philip Mandel, Vernon McDowell, Donald R. McKelvey, George Niederauer, E. D. Noll, Robert E. Paige, Charles F. Raisch, Henry C. Reidling, Doug Rice, Clancy Riggs, Charles Ross, Frank Schell, Jerry Schimmel, Dave Schulz, Blaine M. Simons, Ken Smith, Joe Studebaker, Jr., Terry N. Trantow, Tom Wall, Art Weilbacher, Gordon Wold, Calvin C. Woods.

"Wings" 1¢ slot machine. Cigarette package showed up in the windows. The same brand in the first three windows won a pack of cigarettes; first four windows the same — 3 packs; all five the same — 5 packs. Machine probably paid off in tokens that were redeemable for packages of cigarettes.

APPENDIX

The tokens in this section are believed to be amusement tokens, but there is no indication as such on the tokens. The vast majority are from the Midwest, especially the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, and were used to operate pinball machines, slot machines, or were beer checks. The tokens have initials only, or a name and sometimes address. They are mostly nickel size or slightly smaller, without a hole, and brass, white metal, or nickel-plated brass. Many are found struck over other tokens in this group or over amusement tokens. Similar tokens that say "free play", "no cash value", etc., have been included in the main catalogue listings.

Just the name (or number, etc.) on the token is given in the following lists, for sake of brevity. Addresses, ornaments, figures (animals and objects), phrases, size, and metal are not given. The number of known varieties (if more than one) is given in parenthesis after each entry. Evaluations for these pieces would be 5¢ to 20¢ each.
